After the worst has been said against a man, he may, if he is heard, tell a story in his own rough way that may lead the public to soften their harsh thoughts about him.

I need no lead or powder to revenge my cause if words be louder.

Such is life.